

GRIFFIOEN
Outdoor Furniture

Since 2001, Erik Griffioen has developed his design practice alongside his professional work. His creations have been featured at leading international fairs and galleries, from Milan to Dubai. Currently, he introduces his high-end outdoor furniture collection, where sculptural elegance meets endurance.

Erik Griffioen's outdoor furniture is designed to elevate any environment. Each piece is defined by a deliberate choice of materials— Iroko wood or quartzite, paired with powder-coated stainless steel and high-quality outdoor fabrics. Built with a focus on comfort and longevity, the collection reflects a clear and confident vision.

"I believe in furniture that lasts. Honest materials and a clear focus on quality over excess give my designs lasting relevance in use and in character. Sustainability is not an add-on, but a natural outcome of thoughtful design and material integrity."

Islands Outdoor Collection

Create your own private island.
Crafted with the finest Iroko wood.
Powder-coated stainless steel.
And high quality outdoor fabrics.
Outdoor seating for life.

Each design in this collection is conceived as an island of its own.

A place to pause. A point of balance.

Individual pieces can stand alone or come together as an archipelago—allowing you to compose your outdoor space with intention.

Premium outdoor materials ensure the collection is made for lasting use, style, and ease.

Powder-coated stainless steel, Iroko wood or quartzite, and durable outdoor fabrics are chosen to perform outdoors with confidence.

A considered approach to outdoor living, where design and durability meet.

The Islands may be customised in your preferred colour and finished with a wide range of outdoor fabrics.

Stone or stone composite can be installed as an alternative to Iroko wood.

Custom widths and heights are available upon request.

Also available without armrests.

Each piece is made to order.

Production typically takes 8 to 12 weeks once the design and materials have been confirmed.

The process includes design finalisation, material sourcing, production, and finishing. Special materials or additional customisation may extend the lead time.
